If that's not enough, head over to Hersheypark, where you can experience thrilling rides alongside satisfying your sweet tooth. From chocolate-themed roller coasters to mouth-watering desserts, this amusement park has it all.

Be sure to visit MeltSpa by Hershey for a unique and indulgent spa experience. Treat yourself to chocolate-infused massages, facials, and more - a sweet treat for your body and soul.

The Amish Charm of Intercourse Pretzel Factory

Travel north to Intercourse Pretzel Factory, located in the heart of Amish Country. The Amish have a longstanding tradition of making mouth-watering treats, and one of their specialties is pretzels.

Step into this charming pretzel factory and witness the art of pretzel making. Learn about the time-honored techniques passed down through generations and even try your hand at pretzel twisting. Of course, you also get to sample warm, freshly baked pretzels straight from the oven.

Don't forget to stock up on some pretzel-themed goodies from the factory shop. From chocolate-covered pretzels to pretzel-based desserts, there's no shortage of scrumptious treats to take home.

The Sweet Side of Philadelphia

No visit to Pennsylvania would be complete without a stop in Philadelphia, a city with a rich history and an equally rich culinary scene. While famous for its cheesesteaks and soft pretzels, Philadelphia also offers a wide array of sweet surprises.

Start your sweet adventure with a visit to the Franklin Fountain, an old-fashioned ice cream parlor that takes you back in time. Enjoy scoops of homemade ice cream served in decadent sundaes, malted milkshakes, and classic banana splits.

For the chocolate lovers, Max Brenner - Chocolate by the Bald Man is a must-visit. Indulge in a chocolate-centric experience like no other, with a variety of chocolate-based desserts and drinks to choose from. Their hot chocolate concoctions are particularly popular.

Just a short distance away, Bassett's Ice Cream is a Philadelphia institution since 1861. Their secret family recipes have been delighting locals and visitors for generations. Don't miss the chance to savor a scoop of their signature flavors, including the famous Peanut Butter Swirl.

The Caramel Heaven of Lancaster

If you're a caramel enthusiast, Lancaster County is your dream destination. This area is known for its homemade caramels, made with love and time-honored recipes.

Experience the warm and gooey delight of Lancaster caramels at the Kitchen Kettle Village. Watch as skilled candy makers craft these sweet treats right before your eyes using traditional methods. The tantalizing aroma of caramel wafting through the air will make your mouth water in anticipation.

Make sure to explore the various caramel flavors available, from sea salt to chocolate-covered caramels. You can also bring home some caramel-themed goodies as souvenirs or gifts for loved ones.

The Ice Cream Fantasy of Penn State Creamery

Last but not least, our sweet journey takes us to Penn State Creamery, a favorite among locals and visitors alike. This university creamery has been serving up mouth-watering ice cream since 1896.

Step into this ice cream paradise and choose from a wide range of flavors, each made with premium-quality ingredients. From classic vanilla to unique creations like Mint Nittany (mint-flavored ice cream filled with chocolate chips), there's something for every ice cream lover.

Take a stroll on Penn State's campus, devouring your favorite ice cream cone while appreciating the scenic beauty.

Now that you've discovered some of the sweet secrets and hidden gems of Pennsylvania, it's time to embark on your own sweet adventure. Whether you fancy chocolates, pretzels, ice cream, or caramels, there's no shortage of delightful treats awaiting you in the keystone state. So, satisfy your cravings and indulge in the sweet side of Pennsylvania, one delectable bite at a time!

About the Authors:

Cheri Pray Earl graduated with her master's degree in creative writing from Brigham Young University (BYU) in 1995 and has taught creative writing and literature courses for the BYU Honors Program and the English Department for more than 25 years. She was awarded BYU Honors Professor of the Year in 2005 which she brags about every chance she gets. Cheri writes the middle-grade novel series, Just In Time, with Carol Lynch Williams and published a non-fiction children's book for American Girl in 2009, co-authored with the late Rick Walton. But in real life she writes young adult and adult novels. She won her first real writing contest, the Utah Original Writing Competition, in 1994 for her YA novel, Flat Like Me, and took Honorable Mention in 1997 for her YA novel, The Swan.

She's currently working on an adult mystery novel and a contemporary adult novel. Cheri's most recent children's book, Mr. Dietsche, is a middle-grade novel based on her childhood in Dodge City, Kansas that her agent, Steve Fraser from JDLIT, is this very minute shopping around. That's Secret Agent Steve. See more of Cheri's stories at dustingforfingerprints.wordpress.com

Carol Lynch Williams is the author of more than 30 books for middle grade and young adult readers. Her novels include The Chosen One, Never that Far, Messenger and Never Said. Her most recent book is the novelization of the movie Once I Was a Beehive. Carol has an MFA from Vermont College in Writing for Children and Young Adults and teaches creative writing at BYU. She runs Writing and Illustrating for Young Readers, a week-long writing conference for the not-faint-of-heart writer (www.wifyr.com). As well she is a mentor for those who want to write for kids and teens. Her best creative effort, however, are her five daughters.
