Did the Egyptians build the pyramids or were they nomads that simply moved in many thousands of years later? We will never know but there are clues so your opinion is important. For example, archaeologists agree that the Egyptians at the time were ancients in technology and only used primitive tools to build like hammers, chains, and whips yet when you decide to study the structures yourself, and gather all the information, you realize this simply cannot be true since there is information embedded in the pyramid which would have been impossible for ancient people to know like the slope of the walls of the pyramid being the same slope and curvature of the earth. They either were handed down instructions from an advanced alien civilization to achieve this or they were built by Angels with divine knowledge of the universe. Embedded in our DNA is the perfect blueprint which connects us to God which can be activated using secret knowledge of how the geometry and light from the stars and constellations interact with our mind, body, and soul. The Hebrew alphabet secret is that it was a language given by God as the key to unlock the DNA code through sounds in the the Sefer Yetzirah or "Book of Creation" where divine geometrical shapes are formed using gematria in the writings of ancient books of wisdom and knowledge passed down through the generations to preserve a bigger secret yet to be told. The center of all is very important and the clues are everywhere once you look. The Great pyramid is at the center of all the landmass on earth (at the cross) and is the marker set by the ancients as the divider of all the people on earth. From the the Great pyramid center you can use a compass on a map and notice that all the major cities in the world fall in line with certain math and geometry.
