ICELAND, 979 AD. A GOOD MAN, TRAPPED. A WOMAN IN DANGER. Two people bound by brave ideals—and torn apart by a terrible secret

Kel Coesson does despicable things for his chieftain, and he's at a breaking point. But if he dares to defy the chieftain, Kel's love Aldís will be brutally killed.

An enslaved man from distant Morocco speaks about a mysterious Third Way, starting Kel down a treacherous path of treason--while shieldmaiden and healer Aldís senses an unseen presence calling her to the one place she vowed never to return: the Law Rock high over the sweeping plains of Althing.

“We have things to discuss.” Aldís glared. “And you can't answer my questions if you're dead.”

A stunning cast of characters—a secretive agent of a foreign jarl, a terrified young monk, a bishop eager to convert pagans, a spoiled, bloodthirsty girl, and Kel’s brutal chieftain who craves power no matter the price—bring medieval Iceland to vibrant, tempestuous life.

Set in the land of fire and ice and the midnight sun, this novel is the first in a sweeping series, an Icelandic Viking saga of historical fiction spanning generations and continents.
